Dr. Gregg Singer to Be Guest Speaker

By Chris Rufener

Author of "A Theological Interpretation of American History," Dr. C. Gregg Singer is the guest speaker for the Bicentennial Lectureship at Cedarville College January 30-31.

Chairman of the History Department at Catawba College, Salisbury, N. C., Dr. Singer has written five books within his teaching field and has contributed to numerous others, including Baker's "Dictionary of the Bible" and the "Encyclopedia of Christianity," published by Jay Green.

A graduate of Haverford College, Haverford, Pa. and the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Singer continued at the University to receive his Ph.D. in history in 1940.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the American Historical Association, Medieval Academy of America and Kiwanis Club.

Dr. Singer has contributed to several journals and has been an editorialist for area radio stations since 1963.

On Friday night, January 30, he will speak to the Timilathians.

Begun seven years ago, the Timilathians are comprised of individuals concerned with gaining a personal world life view that is in harmony with the Scriptures. One purpose of the discussion group is to become exposed to "a wide range of knowledge . . . to form a personal view of the area of study," stated Mr. Ron Miller, president of the Timilathians.

Meeting once a quarter, they discuss a book such as Dr. Singer's "A Theological Interpretation of American History." In this way they gain exposure to areas outside of their major field and are more capable of constructing a balanced Christian world life view. Their advisor is Mr. James Grier, professor of philosophy.

Appears in Who's Who

By Joyce Coleman

Dr. Larry S. Helmick, professor of chemistry, at Cedarville College has been selected for inclusion in the Marquis WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA. Dr. Helmick's biography will also appear in the 1976 edition of WHO'S WHO IN THE MID-WEST.

Dr. Helmick is a 1963 graduate of Cedarville College and completed his doctoral work at Ohio University, Athens, Ohio. He is a resident of Cedarville, attends Grace Baptist Church, and is the father of two children.

Dr. Helmick, on leave of absence during the '74-75 school year, did research work in the rates of reaction of Vitamin B1 at the University of Florida with Dr. John Zaltewicz, faculty member of the University's chemistry department.

He also pursued research of the organic reactions in liquid ammonia. The results of this research appears in the December, 1975, issue of Journal of Organic Chemistry.

Dr. Helmick specializes in work on hydrogen-deuterium exchange and liquid ammonia.

He was voted Cedarville College Faculty Member of the Year, 1972-1973, and retains a membership in the American Chemistry Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Creation Research Society.

He has done post-graduate work at University of Florida and University of Illinois. His research work has been presented at two national meetings of the American Chemistry Society and, by select invitation, at the Gordon Research Conference.

Dr. Helmick has not written a book, but would like to do an interdisciplinary study applying to his own research work to the theories of creation and evolution in support of creation.

Dr. Helmick is the advisor of Chi Theta Pi.

His biography will also be included in AMERICAN MEN OF SCIENCE and INTERNATIONAL SCHOLARS DIRECTORY.

Griffith, Armstrong, Carr Serve Short Term

By Karen Thomson

Three Cedarville College employees and their wives are getting involved in short-term missionary service overseas.

Dr. Walter Griffith, Cedarville College science professor, and his wife arrived at the Memorial Christian Hospital in Bangladesh on October 4th for a ten month stay.

Mrs. Mary Wimer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Griffith, reported that her father had heard of the need in Bangladesh and wrote to Dr. Wendell Kempton, Association of Baptists for World Evangelism (ABWE). Before receiving the letter, Dr. Kempton had already spoken to the board of directors of ABWE recommending Dr. Griffith.

Speaking of the need in Bangladesh, Mrs. Wimer continued, "You can't really understand the situation there. The poverty is unreal."

Streets Remain Icy

Cedarville Village streets remained ice packed almost seven days after a recent winter storm in the area.

Bill Shrack, Village Administrator blamed the problem on the lack of equipment needed to salt and plow village streets.

A snowplow, salt spreader and other equipment were lost in a fire started by vandals in May of 1974.

Due to the estimated cost of $30,000 needed to replace the equipment, Village crews have been unable to clean streets after winter storms.

Village Trustees are now attempting to raise funds for new equipment through a federal program.

Dr. Griffith works in the agricultural program with wheat, vegetables and rice. Project goal is working "to produce more income so that they can support indigenous local churches." Mrs. Griffith helps mainly with typing responsibilities at the complex.

Dr. Griffith will resume his teaching position at Cedarville College in the fall of 1976.

Dr. and Mrs. Mead Armstrong look forward to teaching at the Spurgeon Baptist Bible Institute in Sydney, Australia, from May 1977 to May 1979.

The Armstrongs begin deputation this month with ABWE. Dr. Armstrong, professor of Bible at Cedarville College, will continue to teach part-time here until March, 1977.

Speaking of their duties at the Australian school, Dr. Armstrong states, "I am to be teaching Bible and Theology. My wife will be teaching Christian Education."

The Institute's purpose is teaching ministers to get churches started. Dr. and Mrs. Armstrong will assist ABWE missionaries by teaching; thereby giving the missionaries more time to spend on their regular duties.

Mr. Hugh Carr (after whom Carr dorm was named) and his wife plan to go to the Philippine island of Palawan under ABWE. The Carrs hope to leave for Palawan by the first of March and stay for at least a year.

Supervising construction of a hospital, houses, and nurses' quarters will be Mr. Carr's primary responsibilities on the island.

Mrs. Carr hopes to work with children while overseas. In the past she has taught Sunday School at Grace Baptist Church in Cedarville.

When asked how he heard about this opportunity for service, Mr. Carr responded, "Our son was over there this summer with the M.I.S. group." Hearing about the need for a construction supervisor on Palawan Island, Mr. Carr became interested and will shortly be on his way.

Miss Dunn Joins Ed. Dept.

By Suzan Zink

After an absence of eight years Miss Martha Dunn has returned to Cedarville as a temporary addition to the Education Department.

With nine years on the mission field and thirteen years of teaching behind her, Miss Dunn, who taught at Cedarville during the 1967-68 school year, has returned to the college to occupy a position until June.

Due to the resignation of Dr. Merlin Ager, the Administration, upon hearing that Miss Dunn was available to teach, inquired of her interest in a temporary appointment. She accepted the position, which alleviated the work load in the Education Department, and began teaching at the start of Winter Quarter.

Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Dunn received her B. S. from Taylor University and her M.A. from Case Western Reserve University. In addition to her teaching experience in the public school system and her year at Cedarville, Miss Dunn instructed the children of mission-

Med. Center Underway

By Eileen Dugan

According to Cedarville Mayor Lowell Fletcher, construction of the proposed town Medical Center is underway, directly across from Maddox dormitory on the north side of Wayne's grocery store. The Center is to be completed in approximately six months. The winter has been the factor holding up construction thus far.

The funding for the center has come primarily from citizens of the Cedarville community. Late last summer, a fund-raising drive was held that brought in close to 60,000 dollars. Currently, the Miami Deposit Bank is loaning the rest of the money. Another fund-raising drive in the form of a letter to the townspeople will start sometime in February.

Mr. K. H. St. Clair, Cedarville College Business Manager and a member of the Medical Center Planning Committee, stated that the Center will be open to all community residents, and students of Cedarville College who have injuries or conditions that the Health Service is not equipped to handle will most likely be sent there. The staffing plans are yet incomplete, but tentative plans are to bring in four doctors; 1 optometrist, 1 dentist, and 2 general practitioners. This would include Dr. Donald F. Kyle, who is the present College doctor. Dr. Kyle's office is downtown and would be moved to the Medical Center.

The land for the Medical Center was donated by Cedarville College. It was donated to the Medical Center, which is non-profit corporation operated by the community. Mr. St. Clair was one of the original drafters of the deed for the land. He explained that there was some controversy over the wording in that the "original purpose of the trustees in giving the land was to make sure the land was used for medical purposes." Thus, if the land is ever used for any construction other than the Medical Center, Cedarville College has the option of re-purchasing the land and any buildings on it.

Utility Deposit

Village Trustees have announced that a $40.00 deposit must be made with village offices before village supplied utilities can be turned on.

The new policy took effect on January first. Village utilities include water, sewage and garbage collection.

Adopting the new policy was necessary to insure that renters and apartment dwellers pay their utility bill before leaving the area, according to a village spokesman. The deposit does not affect those purchasing homes in the village.

Side stepping the new policy is possible, however. A village property owner can sign an agreement of intent to cover rental property utilities in the event the renter cannot pay or defaults on utility payments. This system is especially beneficial to the college family because many students rent properties owned by staff and faculty members of the school.

aries while in Forteleza, Brazil.

Academic Dean Dr. Clifford Johnson commented that because of this background, her solid Christian character and enthusiastic personality "we knew she could teach at the college level."

Miss Dunn's primary responsibility is the supervision of student teachers—a job which she enjoys. She will assist Mrs. Lila Seaman with the course "Teaching Language Arts and Social Studies."

When asked what changes she has observed in the college since she returned, Miss Dunn remarked, "The campus has really improved since I was here last." She mentioned better office facilities in particular and expressed her anticipation concerning completion of the new chapel.

Besides possessing a love of travel, Miss Dunn shows a love of learning and sharing this learning process with her students. "I enjoy opening up opportunities and watching them develop into more capable students," she commented.

Editor Extends Thanks

From time to time Whispering Cedars wants to take a few lines to express our appreciation to organizations and people who make our lives at college a little more pleasant.

Food Service has taken positive steps to innovate and improve services. Thanks!

Every secretary on this campus does a great deal to help cut the red tape of the organizations. We appreciate you!

Riding the pines isn't very fun. That's why we think the Varsity basketball team's second string deserves credit for the super sub-job they've been doing.

The mail room processes mail for approximately 1275 people every day. Multiply that number by the number of pieces of mail you receive each day and you have a big job. Say thanks next time you're at the window. B.C.

Check the Facts

On Wed. evening, Jan. 14, a girl was on her way to her dorm when a strange man offered her a ride, which she refused. When she drew even with him, the man caught hold of her arm. She screamed. The man released her arm and fled. She ran on to her dorm. . . .

Have you ever played the game "Telephone" where you whisper a statement to the person next to you, and so forth, until you go completely around the group? The funny thing about the game is that the final statement is never the same as the first one. Unfortunately, such misinterpretations happen on campus every day. People get the facts mixed up, or possibly, they are not even in possession of all the facts. Then it passes from person to person until a simple statement or occurrence is blown all out of proportion. A good example is the story I opened my editorial with. I wish I could find it hard to believe that there could be so many versions of the incident, each worse than the previous, but I cannot. This is not the first time, nor will it be the last. It seems sad somehow that people have to suffer just because we fail to seek out the whole factual story.

Well, what are we going to do about it? Isn't it time we all made that effort to verify the facts before we "spread the story"? Think about it!

Politically Speaking...

Polls and Public Opinion

By Dale Johnson

The purpose of polls is to determine true public opinion. The polls then serve as the basis for the formation of public policy.

In reality, public opinion surveys do not mirror true public opinion but mere responses to questions. The public must be aware that the results of a poll can be, and often are misleading. Politicians, specifically must be careful to view the poll with its limitations.

Last month it was announced that results of two independent pollsters, Harris and Gallup, recorded opposing data despite the fact that they both were questioning over the same subject. The significance is not with these results per se, but with the trend it may tipify.

There is a growing tendency for the individuals polled to offer a jaundice response and view the poll taker with hostility. If the reliability of the polled results is suspect, the public policy which results will likewise be suspect.

The congressman representing my district periodically uses a questionnaire to "stay on top of the problems in the district and determine what should be the top priorities of Congress." Those who answered the questionnaire responded to the question: "As you analyze the energy crisis which do you think is the most to blame? 1) Big oil companies, 2) Wasteful Americans, 3) Arab oil countries, 4) Congress, 5) Wasteful products, 6) Office of the president, 7) Increase in world population." First of all, I don't think the respondents 'analyzed' the energy crisis. Secondly the answers are too all-inclusive and canned to provide any real meaning.

The respondents might just as well have answered the following pointed question this way: "As you analyze the ecological crisis, which do you think is most to blame? 1) cars and trucks, 2) dogs, 3) big trucks, 4) people, 5) the president, 6) Jews, 7) Congress, 8) polluters, 9) steamships, etc."

Finally, according to C.B.S. News, a poll taken during the Christmas Holidays in London asked the question, "Do you want to have a Happy Christmas?" 88% responded yes, 7% no, and 5% were undecided or not sure. Polls, take a second look.

Liberty Lines...

The Torment of Timor

By Robert M. Bartell

WASHINGTON, D.C. (Liberty Lobby News Service)—A nasty little war is raging on the Far East island of Timor, involving the extermination of thousands of men, women and children. The massacre is being perpetrated by the forces of General Suharto, the strong man of Indonesia, who also just happens to be allied with the Central Intelligence Agency. So, our government is involved in this genocide.

Our big news media's silence on the sinister developments in Indonesia is deafening. The leading metropolitan newspapers, the big radio and TV networks have given the whole matter only a passing and very perfunctory mention. So we have to turn to the foreign press to learn what is going on.

A ferocious genocidal operation is afoot in Timor, where our government is participating in the mass killings, continuing the cruel campaign of General Suharto to rid himself of all opposition to his rule. We also learn that some 500,000 men, women, and children in Suharto's Indonesia have already been murdered by Suharto's warriors.

The victims have mainly been members of the Chinese community in Indonesia. The pretext has been that they were suspected of communism, but the fact that they also happened to belong to thrifty, well-to-do families has been glossed over or ignored. At any rate, the operation has now been transferred to the Portuguese part of Timor. Its 610,000 inhabitants — both the ethnic Chinese and the natives who prefer Portuguese

Letters to the Editor

Student Responds

To Slacks Question

Dear Editor,

I would like to respond to the letter which appeared in "Whispering Cedars" last quarter concerning the possibility of women wearing slacks to classes during winter quarter. Personally, I have always thought that the skirt rule is discriminatory and based on outmoded sexist attitudes about women. To me, the height of idiocy is found in the assumption that a Christian woman is someone who wears a knee-length skirt until 5 p.m. on weekdays. Can femininity or modesty be legislated? Does the administration really believe that this impractical, uncomfortable mode of dress will be continued after we leave?

Personally, I doubt if the rule will ever be modified or abolished due to the simple fact that those people who are in a position to change it have never had the occasion to wear a skirt when the temperature drops below zero, or at any other time, for that matter. Try it, you'll hate it.

Are Excuses Valid?

Mr. Editor:

Thanks for printing Ed Baggett's letter in your next to the last issue. I appreciated his restraint. Thanks, too, for your editorial on the food service. These things have long needed to be brought out. All of us have heard the excuses for Cedarville's daily meals.

But the facts are:

1) the Sunday noon meals are better than average;

2) meals improve drastically when the students' parents are expected to be on campus;

3) meals improve drastically when the board of trustees is expected to be on campus;

4) meals improve when someone from "higher up" is eating in the cafeteria to see if what is written in Whispering Cedars about the food service is true;

5) everyone knows about the flavor and quality of food prepared in Cedarville College's kitchen for a banquet.

Reviewing the above five points, one will note two common denominators.

1) When someone who is important or who needs to be impressed is on campus the flavor and quality of the food is, as a matter of course, improved.

2) The food service can and does turn out good food, but only for certain occasion and/or when they feel like it.

All the excuses we've heard will not stand before these two points.

I believe it is good that we are all openly asking the question — "Why?"

Concerned for the student body,
Paul Shenefield

What About Alphabetism?

Dear Editor,

Through the years I have been the victim of strange glances and occasional quips because my last name begins with a "Z." And, of course, everyone knows that "Z's" must "wait till last." At particular times being at the end of the alphabet proved advantageous, such as when vaccinations were given in grade school. However, I was pushed to the boundary of human endurance last week when I found that my name was not listed on any of my professors' computer print-out sheets for Winter Quarter. In thinking back I realized that I hadn't been listed Fall Quarter either. In a sense I was "non-existent" in all of my courses until I proved to my instructors that I was, indeed, alive.

I inquired at the Registrar's office as to why this was so, and the reply was that the last alphabetical name in the student body is deleted by the computer on the tentative rolls of that student's courses. No explanation for this action could be given to me. I then felt the sting of discrimination, and unless someone can provide me with a logical reason I will continue to feel this discrimination.

While there are those who crusade against racism, chauvinism, and communism, I say, "What about alphabetism?" "X's," "Y's," and "Z's" do not exist for the restricted purposes of naming chemicals and rare animal species!

I don't expect those of you who occupy secure, comfortable places at the head of the roster to fully understand my complaint, but I'll close with these words, "And the last shall be first!"

Zealously yours,
Suzan Zink,
Freshman

College Announces 18 for Who's Who Listing

By Lois Teed

Cedarville College announced its choices for the 1976 Who's Who in American Colleges. Eighteen juniors and seniors were selected on the basis of criteria set by Who's Who and the individual school.

Factors considered include: a minimum of 3.00 G.P.A., organizational involvement, offices held, Christian service, overall attitude, leadership ability, Christian testimony, personality, and future goals.

The students chosen for this honor this year are:

Mindy Andes, a senior music major. She has been active at Cedarville as a P.A., member of the Student Senate, class secretary, and Homecoming attendant. She was accompanist for "The Expectations" trio for two years, went to Australia under the MIS program, and was a Swordbearers member. She also participated in Choralaires and Collegiate Singers and is now junior choir director at Southgate.

Joseph Bartemus, a senior, majors in History. Joe actively participates in soccer (all-conference for 3 years) and basketball. He has served on the Student Senate and as a class officer. Other activities include membership in Pi Sigma Nu and MIS service in the Philippines. He is a recipient of the Milner Education Award.

Cindy Carr, a senior elementary ed. major, has been editor of Whispering Cedars, Student Senate representative, and is currently a senate dorm representative and co-editor of the paper. She has worked with Bible clubs and church nursery work.

Nancy Dear is a junior secondary ed.-English major. She has served as co-editor of Whispering Cedars. She was Junior class Homecoming attendant and a member of the 1975 Swordbearers summer team.

David Derlan is a pre-seminary major and a junior. He was assistant track coach last year and is now head coach for wrestling. He has served as R.A. for Williams Hall and advisor for spring tour Swordbearers team. He teaches children's church at Grace Baptist and lists as special achievements his wonderful wife and four sons.

Deborah Gidley is a junior secondary ed.-English major. She has participated in Collegiate Singers, Oratorio Choir, Swordbearers, and in college plays. She went to Australia with MIS and is now in the choir and works as an Awana leader at Grace Baptist.

Hope Harris is a senior English major planning to be a librarian. She works in the library and serves as an officer for Gamma Chi. Last year she received the Edith Hart Milner award for an outstanding junior English student.

Rick Kline is a Bible major and a junior. He has been involved in detention home work, campus evangelism, intramural sports and Swordbearers canvassing. He went to Austria under the MIS program last summer and is now president of FWM and a P.A. in Marshall Hall.

Shelley Knowles is a senior secondary ed.-mathematics major. Her activities have included detention home work, OSSO, junior church and beach evangelism. She is also active in intramural sports and women's volleyball and has served as P.A., Student Senate representative and senior class secretary.

Roberta (Bobbi) Litts is a senior mathematics major. She has been active in co-ed and women's sports and is a cheerleader. She is now cheerleading captain and has been on the Alpha Chi Sweetheart court. She has also participated in beach evangelism, detention home work, church nursery, and junior church work.

Sally O'Shell is a behavioral science major and a senior. She has been a Student Senate representative, P.A., Alpha Chi Sweetheart and Gamma Chi social committee chairman. Her other activities include working at the Dayton detention home, the Jamestown Resthome, and with the MIS program in Brazil.

Leona (Dee) Perry is a senior majoring in English. She is active as a Bible club worker, as a P.A., in junior church and rest home work and in MIS. She is a member of the Education Club, FWM, and the Student Affairs Committee.

Caroline Sapp, a junior, is majoring in English education. She spent three years as class treasurer and two years as a Kappa Delta Chi officer. She was Freshman Homecoming attendant and traveled with Swordbearers last year. At present she is a P.A. and a member of the Financial Aid Committee.

Mark Sigmon is a pre-seminary major in his junior year. His activities include Student Senate, choir officer, being a Swordbearers team member and officer, the Barbershop Quartet and participation in campus evangelism.

John Street is a senior speech and pre-seminary major. He served as Freshman class vice-pres., Sophomore class president and Student Senate representative. He has been active in Swordbearers and is now Swordbearers president. He has also been involved in school drama, as a P.A. and as a student representative on the Financial Aid Committee.

James Turner is a senior majoring in pre-seminary. He has played soccer as all-conference goalie and served on a Swordbearers team. He has also been R.A. at Patterson and works at Grace Baptist.

Kenneth Wimer is a senior pre-seminary major. He has participated in campus evangelism, Choralaires, as Freshman class chaplain and in intramural sports. His other activities include Bible club, Awana, Advisory Twelve and serving as Student Advisory Board alternate.

Mary (Mrs. Kenneth) Wimer is a senior majoring in Bible. Her activities have included being Freshman class treasurer, Swordbearers extension team, campus evangelism, band, Choralaires, and Alpha Mu Chi. She is currently involved in Bible Club and Awana.

Nominations for Who's Who are made by P.A.'s, R.A.'s, Student Senate officers and the heads of academic departments after consulting professors in their department. Records of all junior and senior students with a 3.00 or better G.P.A. are also reviewed.

The six-member Student Affairs Committee consisting of two faculty members: Lyle Anderson and Lynn Brock; two students: Leona Perry and Don Hare; Dean Rickard and Dean Walker go over the nominations and select those they feel are most deserving. The Administrative Committee then reviews their choices before the final selections are announced.

KATHY HOWELL hopes to glorify God through her new album.

Kathy Howell Produces Record Album

By Dianne Monts

"O Mighty God, How Wonderful Thou Art" is the theme song of Kathy Howell's album of the same name. Kathy, a senior at Cedarville College basically produced the vocal album herself by choosing which songs to include as well as arranging one song, "Redemption Draweth Nigh," for brass choir.

This thirty-minute album is Kathy's first. She was approached about doing the album by Christian Education Publications (CEP). Mr. Paul Gathny of CEP and the General Manager of Cedarville College's radio station, WCDR, is the executive producer.

Mr. Gathny, saying the album is superb, related that his favorite song is "God Leads Us Along." This one, he says, has a light delicate sound.

Included on the album are "O Mighty God, How Wonderful Thou Art"; "Jesus Paid It All"; "Thank You Lord"; "Redemption Draweth Nigh"; "God Leads Us Along"; "He Died For Us"; "Isaiah 53"; "The Rest of the Way"; and "Let Your Light Shine."

Jeanne Pippin, sophomore, is the accompanist for the record. Other instrumentalists include Dan Steer, a Cedarville College graduate on the guitar, Brenda Apple, sophomore, on the flute, Ellen West, senior, on the violin, and Roland Bennett of Artist Recording Studios, on the cello. The Abundant Life Singers also accompanied Kathy on 3 songs.

The album was recorded at Artist Recording Studios, a division of Landmark Baptist Temple, in Cincinnati, O.

Eight track tapes and cassettes will also be available. The cost for any of these are $5.95, and should be available by March 1.

Kathy's testimony is included on the back cover of the album. She says that the album is to be a praise to the Lord for the opportunities and talents He has given her. At first Kathy was a little apprehensive about doing the album because she did not want her motivation to be primarily an ego-trip for herself. Instead she hoped to honor God through the use of her talents. "In glorifying the Lord we need to uplift and edify each other," says Kathy and she hopes to accomplish these goals through her album.

Student Aid Nears One Million Dollars

By Mike Cuffman

Mr. David Gidley, Financial Aid Director of Cedarville College, reports that total financial aid to students for this academic year will total nearly one million dollars. This sum comes from several aid programs including scholarships, grants, loans, and employment.

The BEOG (Basic Educational Opportunity Grant) is a federal entitlement program with grants from $200-1400 given on the basis of assets, income, etc. The OIG (Ohio Instructional Grant) is a state entitlement program to Buck-

Students Work, Travel in Europe

College students are going to Europe in increasing numbers. The availability of temporary work and student travel discounts in Europe are two reasons for the trend.

For example, Volunteer Service positions and temporary jobs are available in Austria, Belgium, England, France, Germany, Holland and Switzerland. Once in Europe, a host of student privileges are obtainable. In one instance, members of the European-American Cycling Club can get up to 50% off on most trains in Europe.

The combination of being able to earn at least free living accommodations—and in many cases additional money for travel — while having a broadening cultural and life experience is a practical and educational attraction. Also, the added allure of the Winter Olympics this year in Austria is reason enough for skiers to pack up and go.

Different European programs, including temporary jobs and Volunteer Service positions, are available to any student between the ages of 17 and 27. Students interested in seeking and earning their way in Europe may obtain an application and complete information by sending their name, address, age, and one dollar or the equivalent in stamps to SOS-Student Overseas Services, 22 Ave. de la Liberte, Luxembourg, Europe.

Jackettes Have Rebuilding Year

With only three members with previous varsity experience, the Jackettes face a "total rebuilding this year," according to their coach, Dr. Maryalyce Jeremiah. With 6 of their 21 regular season games over, they hold a 3-3 record.

Returning this year are three guards: seniors Diana Jones and Laureen Clark, and sophomore Cathy Bunton. Former J-Vers are sophomores Laura Palmer, Kim Gall, and Becky Ziemer. Sophomore Laura Wilson and freshmen Shellee Hunt, Rachel Norton, and Dorene Sands round out the team. Jones and Bunton are the captains.

Dr. Jeremiah is encouraged with the team. She feels that as they are getting to know each other, they work much more as one unit.

Since it is a rebuilding year, Dr. Jeremiah aims for the team to play at least .500 ball. The squad plays a tough schedule against large and small schools from four states. Dr. Jeremiah hopes to place high in Ohio Valley League play. The three victories chalked up at press time were all against OVL opponents.

Ashland, Bowling Green and Ohio State will be the toughest competition for the squad, Dr. Jeremiah states. Indiana University is the most difficult overall. They lost to them on Dec. 6.

The main purpose for the difficult schedule is to prepare the Jackettes for the state tourney. This year's tourney will be held on the Cedarville College campus, March 4-6. Approximately 24 schools from Ohio will be involved.

After this year the state tourney will be divided into two divisions, based on school size.

JV Changes

Changes have been made on the junior varsity level. Dr. Diehl now serves as coach replacing alumni Pat Buzzard.

The schedule for the JV squad will not always correspond with the varsity's. Part of their ten games will be against varsity squads of smaller schools.

The JV members are junior JoEllyn Priola, sophomores Laura Risser, Marie Chipukits, Kathy Green, and Pat Holmes, and freshmen Terri Camden, Kathy Kearbey, Crystal Anderson, Kim Murray, Lynn Donnelly, and Dawn Marvin.

Streaks Constitute Varsity Action

By Mike Cuffman

Winning and losing streaks have constituted the Cedarville College Yellow Jackets varsity action this season. Playing with a fine nucleus of talent the Jackettes have encountered some stiff competition in a number of streaks.

After losing three straight to open the season, the Varsity reeled off five back-to-back victories as everyone flooded home for Christmas vacation. The Jackettes then defeated Mt. Union in a thriller, 72-71, to open holiday play and increase consecutive wins to six.

Grand Rapids, Mich. is where the streak ended as the team sojourned there to play in the Calvin College Tourney. Defeated by Calvin and Aquinas Colleges by scores of 104-74 and 90-82 respectively the team members then returned home for "their" Christmas vacation.

Opening MOC play at home against Malone the Jackettes looked flat as the Pioneers turned the game into a rout in the second half. Some indication of Cedarville's poor performance in the 72-43 loss was their 22% shooting percentage. Mark Klein of Malone led all scorers with 30 points while Steve Lones led Cedarville's lackluster attack with 9.

A three-game losing streak came to an end as the Yellow Jackettes defeated Tiffin University at Heidelberg College in Tiffin by a 79-77 count. Nip-and-tuck all the way, Cedarville won the game

Wrestlers Upend Dayton

By Craig Vielguth

Traveling to the University of Dayton last weekend, Cedarville matmen came out on top of a 30-24 score. The come from behind win was something Head Coach Dave Dernlan thought was possible but not probable. The Yellow-jackets fell behind early when the first match was lost by a pinfall and Rich Bowers was forced to default because of a first period shoulder injury. At 134 lbs. a string of four victories was started by Dan Self who pinned his man in the third period. Then Dale West fought off a third period rally to decision his man 7-6. Junior Dave Wishart, an experienced wrestler but new to the squad, made his first appearance in style by pinning his man at 150 lbs., putting the Jackettes ahead for the first time in the match 15-12. Duncan Fields was handling his opponent decisively until the Dayton man defaulted because of an elbow injury. Keith Glassey, taking over for the injured Chuck Yassenka, lost to the 167 pounder Jeff Place, Dayton's premier wrestler. Jeff Conklin chalked up a decision at 177 but the score was jammed at 24 apiece after the following match went to UD, which meant that it would be left to the heavyweights to decide the outcome of the meet. Gerry Perry ended it all when he pancaked his man to the mat for a fall in the second period. Final score: Cedarville 30-Dayton 24. The team has a heavy week of action ahead as they travel to Urbana Thursday and then wrestle Wright State, Eastern Kentucky, and Morehead State in a quadrangular meet at Wright State on Saturday.

Student Aid

eye State residents with grants ranging from $150-1500 based on income, savings, and number of children.

The BEOG, last year available to only Freshmen and Sophomores, is now available to all students. Students are encouraged to submit applications early to thwart any processing delays.

Other non-repayable programs are the SEOG (Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant) operating in conjunction with BEOG and scholarships offered by Cedarville College. Scholarships of $300-600 are available to students of high academic prowess and character. Contribution to the college is considered.

Cedarville College also offers employment opportunities for nearly 400 students with an average income of $400 per year.

Other financial helps include the National Direct Student Loan, a long term loan program through the college and the Student Guaranteed Loan available through a student's bank.

Of all the various athletic, departmental and institutional grants and loans, Mr. Gidley praises highly the Student Body Loan and Grant Fund which has provided many students with assistance in its short history. Mr. Gidley says the financial aid program is expanding with various individuals coming to inquire about starting funds.

Questions concerning details of the various programs and of individual financial status should be related to Mr. Gidley, extensions 225 or 361, as he is willing to discuss matters of concern.

Sports Editorial ... Justice for Malone?

By Mike Cuffman

At the onset of the 1975-76 basketball season, with the outlook good for another excellent year, Malone College voluntarily reported to the NAIA information which included what the NAIA determined a recruiting infraction.

Jamie Pearson, an outstanding talent who was admittedly heavily recruited by Malone, ended up in the middle of the controversy when Jay Bowerman, head coach of the Pioneers, allegedly co-signed a loan for Pearson in order to purchase a car. The administration of Malone did not feel this was a violation.

As a result, NAIA District 22 heads met to come to a conclusion. It was resolved that Malone would not be allowed to participate in post-season tournament play of for the MOC championship.

The highly talented Pearson was ruled ineligible for this season, but this decision was overruled by NAIA national administrators. Their reason for the veto was that the violation was institutional and not individual.

Dr. Don Callan, president of the Mid-Ohio Conference stated MOC heads met Sunday to discuss Malone's Pearson's eligibility status. With several complications due to conference play being partially completed, Pearson's situation is a major problem.

It's an unfortunate predicament for the team from Akron in the light of the loss of star Larry Arrington who has been struck with terminal cancer. Malone has been punished but the question is: Are the Pioneers guilty and deserving of greater punishment?
